Tenant Leadership Training on Lobbying & Advocacy

Learn how to be a leader in the fight for rent reform

Monday, February 15, beginning at 11 AM

St. Francis College, 182 Remsen St., Brooklyn

Subway: 2, 3, 4, 5, to Borough Hall, R to Court Street

To win the repeal of vacancy decontrol and other important rent reform legislation in 2010, we need a strong group of tenant leaders. Join a training session especially for those who would like to learn concrete skills for lobbying and advocating effectively on behalf of tenants.

This event is being put on by the Real Rent Reform Campaign (R3) and Housing Here & Now, coalition groups leading the rent reform fight that include virtually every large tenant advocacy group in New York (including Met Council on Housing), as well as unions, religious groups, and more.

Refreshments will be served.

RSVPs are not required, but will be appreciated. Please contact James Harris at the Pratt Area Community Council, which has taken the lead in organizing this training.
